

Birth, parentage, marriage and death of Peter Cleydon

This brief evidences the details of the birth, parentage, marriage and death of Peter Cleydon.

Those details are –

Peter's date and place of baptism are unknown.

His father was Raphe Cleydon, but no other details could be located about Raphe.

Peter's date and place of marriage could not be determined with sufficient certitude, nor could his wife's name.

Peter was buried on 27th September 1617 in Honington, Warwickshire.

(The research for this brief was conducted in early 2026).

Peter's burial

Peter's daughter Adrian was baptised in Honington, Warwickshire on 9th December 1593, see the brief relating to Adrian Cleydon. Peter thus died after (or in) 1593, and that event likely occurred in Honington.

Peter's Family Search person record is at <https://www.familysearch.org/en/tree/person/details/GMDG-S31>,¹ and it lists his burial date as 27th September 1617, and burial place as Honington, Warwickshire. However, that data was added by a Family Search contributor, and no sources or linked Family Search records for such an event are provided.

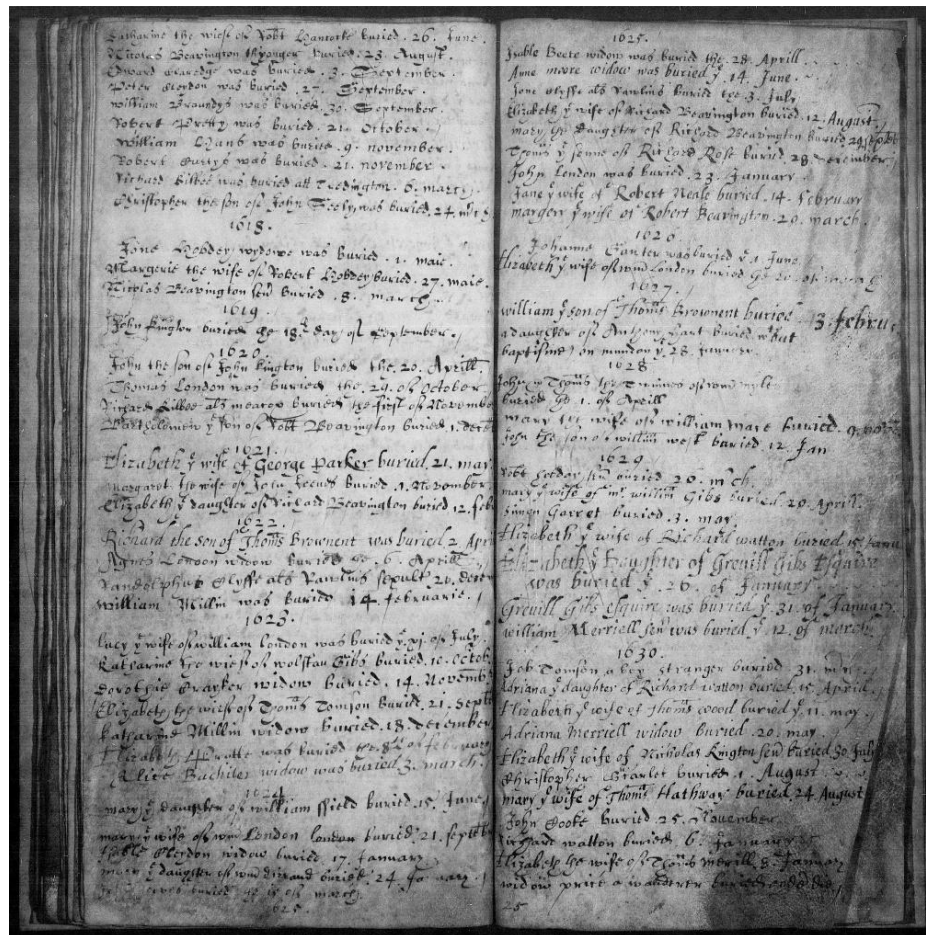

However, a FindMyPast search for a Peter (or variants) Cleydon (or variants) event in Warwickshire between 1560 and 1640² returned one record only, that of such a burial on 27th September 1617 in Honington, Warwickshire, see <https://www.findmypast.com.au/transcript?id=GBPRS%2FWARWICKSHIRE%2FBUR%2F000677902&tab=this>.

This is the image of the original parish register pages containing the entry, see <https://search.findmypast.com.au/record?id=S2%2FGBPRS%2FWARWICKSHIRE%2FPR-NONEXC%2FHONINGTON%2FD0210-01-00027>:

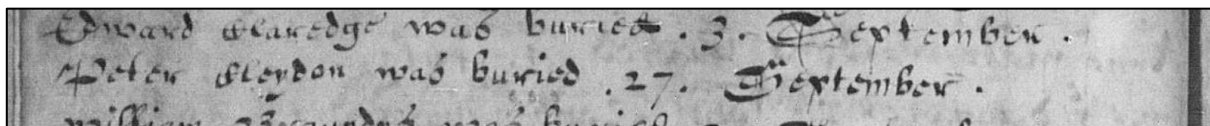

¹ URLs of Family Search records linked herein include "61903", presumably a specific member number, and likely need adapting to function.

This is a close up of the relevant entry:

As noted, this was the sole FindMyPast record returned on the abovementioned search, although records for children baptised to Peter Cleydon in Warwickshire between 1560 and 1640 were subsequently located, see below. Another FindMyPast search for any Peter Cleydon event anywhere in England and at any time³ only produced 6 additional records, none of which potentially related to Peter the father of Adrian.⁴

Claydon, Cleyden, Clayden, Cladon and Claden are phonetically identical to Cleydon. Changing the surname to "Claydon" in the above FindMyPast search for English records at any time produced hundreds of records.⁵ Limiting that search to Warwickshire produced 6 records,⁶ all for events in the 20th century. Repeating the same search with the surname changed to “Cleyden”, “Clayden”, “Cladon” or “Claden”⁷ produced no results in each case.

³ See <https://search.findmypast.com.au/search-england-records?firstname=peter&lastname=cleydon>.

⁴ One was for a Peter Cleydon baptised in Paston, Norfolk on 20th March 1568, see <https://www.findmypast.com.au/transcript?id=GBPRS%2FNFORFOLK%2FBAP%2F300845868&tab=this>. He would have been a very appropriate age of 24½ when Peter's first born Anne was baptised, see below, but Paston is 140 miles east-north-east of Honington.

Another FindMyPast search for a Warwickshire event at any time for a Peter (or variants) Cleydon also returned no additional record of relevance.⁸ Conducting the same search (an event at any time in Warwickshire, but allowing for variants of Peter) for each of the surname variants Claydon, Cleyden, Clayden, Cladon and Claden, produced no record which potentially related to Peter the father of Adrian.⁹

A Family Search search for a Peter Cleydon event anytime in Honington¹⁰ produced no record relating to him except for his daughter Mary’s baptism, as to which, see below.¹¹ A search for events involving Peter Cleydon (or variants) in Honington between 1550 and 1660¹² also produced no record relating to him except for the baptisms of his daughters Mary and Anne, see below. The like search expanded to Warwickshire produced no relevant events at all.¹³

A Family Search search for a Peter Cleydon (or variants) event in England between 1550 and 1660¹⁴ returned no additional records to those mentioned above, and which were either in a location of interest, or in a time window that might encompass Peter’s baptism, his marriage, his children’s baptisms, or his burial.

That indicates that Peter Cleydon, and its obvious variants as a name, was an uncommon name for the times, and, given that fact, as well as the multiple searches referred to above which returned no other burial record of interest, one can be reasonably confident that there is no other candidate for Peter’s burial except the obvious one identified above at the outset.¹⁵

Accordingly, Peter was buried on 27th September 1617 in Honington, Warwickshire.

Peter’s marriage

As noted above, Peter’s daughter Adrian was baptised in Honington on 9th December 1593, see the brief relating to Adrian Cleydon. ¹⁵ Notably, by 1617 the issue of “many names through negligence omitted and displaced” from Honington’s parish register prior to 1609 would have been cured by the more diligent incoming vicar, see the brief relating to William Miles, Father of Timothy, regarding the matter.

¹⁶ The existence of two copies of the register is explained in the brief relating to William Miles, Father of Timothy.

Peter's Family Search person record at <https://www.familysearch.org/en/tree/person/details/GMDG-S31> lists three children for him, as follows, all baptised in Honington, Warwickshire. The person record also provides links to Family Search event records, as listed, which records in turn reveal the dates listed:

Name	Birth/baptism date	Family Search record URL
Anne ¹⁸	20 th August 1592	https://www.familysearch.org/ark:/61903/1:1:NG1Z-RY3?lang=en
Adrian	9 th December 1593	Family Search baptism record not linked nor located ¹⁹
Mary	11 th March 1599 ²⁰	https://www.familysearch.org/ark:/61903/1:1:NG18-SJS?lang=en

The parish baptism records for the baptisms of Anne, Adrian and Mary are all on the same FindMyPast image, namely <https://search.findmypast.com.au/record?id=S2%2FGBPRS%2FWARWICKSHIRE%2FPR-NONEXC%2FHONINGTON%2FDR0210-01-00015>. The entries provide no further information. There is no other child baptised in Honington to Peter Cleydon on that image 15, nor on the ones before or after it, which three images span the period from 1575 to 1609.

(Those three Honington images include baptisms to Raphe Cleydon of a John on 26th November 1575 and a Raphe on 13th June 1595, and baptisms to Robert Cleydon of an Elionar on 2nd June 1594, a Raphe on 9th February 1597, a William on 7th January 1599, and a Katherine on 6th December 1601).

The baptisms in the table above would indicate that Peter married about 1590, and likely in Honington. But, as is apparent from the myriad searches conducted for Peter Cleydon (and also the surname's homophones), as referred to above, no potential Peter Cleydon marriage record was located in either Family Search or FindMyPast, whether in Honington or elsewhere.

Honington's marriage register from 1571 to 1616²¹ was therefore manually examined, but there is no entry for Peter, so perhaps he was not married there. However, the register recorded the marriages of Robert Cleydon on 24th January 1593, and also John Cleydon on 19th October 1595, who proved to be the abovementioned John baptised on 26th November 1575, see below. No marriage was recorded for the Raphe Cleydon who baptised a Raphe in 1595, see above. Lest ascertaining Raphe senior's marriage location might indicate the location of Peter's marriage, FindMyPast searches were conducted for a Raphe (or name variants) Cleydon (or name variants) event between 1560 and 1640,²² but they proved fruitless.

It is noted from Peter Cleydon's Family Search person record (at <https://www.familysearch.org/en/tree/person/details/GMDG-S31>) that his wife is said to be an Isabelle, however, there is no attached source record for that information, which was added by a Family Search contributor.²³ No reason is given as to why the contributor might have connected Peter and Isabelle, and Isabelle's person record at <https://www.familysearch.org/en/tree/person/details/GMDG-S7Q> has no further information.

¹⁸ Anne was buried on 15th November 1595, see <https://search.findmypast.com.au/record?id=S2%2FGBPRS%2FWARWICKSHIRE%2FPR-NONEXC%2FHONINGTON%2FDR0210-01-00025>.

An Isabel Cleydon was buried in Honington on 16th January 1624, see <https://www.findmypast.com.au/transcript?id=GBPRS%2FWARWICKSHIRE%2FBUR%2F000677933&tab=this>. That record and the original parish record, see <https://search.findmypast.com.au/record?id=S2%2FGBPRS%2FWARWICKSHIRE%2FPR-NONEXC%2FHONINGTON%2FDR0210-01-00027>, describe her as a widow. As Peter died in 1617, see above, she could be his widow. She could not be the widow of Robert Cleydon,²⁴ as he married an Anne,²⁵ or the widow of John Cleydon, as he married an Elizabeth.²⁶ However, she could be the widow of the Raphe Cleydon who baptised a Raphe in Honington in 1595, see above. His marriage could not be located,²⁷ so his wife's name is unknown, and, also, his burial could not be located,²⁸ so he may have died by 1624. Indeed, this Isabel buried in 1624 could also be the widow of another undiscovered Cleydon, or possibly even Peter's mother.

An Isabell was baptised in Honington to a Mary Cleydon on 11th May 1627, see <https://www.findmypast.com.au/transcript?id=GBPRS%2FWARWICKSHIRE%2FBAP%2F001587917&tab=this>. The relevant image of the original parish register page, which is at <https://search.findmypast.com.au/record?id=S2%2FGBPRS%2FWARWICKSHIRE%2FPR-NONEXC%2FHONINGTON%2FDR0210-01-00018>, only lists fathers for baptised children, no mothers, except for Isabell's entry, so she appears to be an illegitimate child, and, given the Cleydon name was uncommon at the time as noted above, likely the daughter of Adrian's sister Mary Cleydon baptised in 1599. That being likely correct, the name given to the child suggests that Mary's mother (and thus Adrian's mother) was an Isabell. The suggestion is quite persuasive, but not sufficiently certain, as examination of many records of the times showed that Isabell was a more common female name then than it is now, or at least in the Honington area.

A FindMyPast search for an Isabell (or name variants) Cleydon event between 1580 and 1660 returned no other relevant record.²⁹ Nor did a FindMyPast search for an Isabell (or name variants) Cleydon (or name variants) event in Warwickshire in the same period.³⁰ Nor did a FindMyPast search for any Isabell (or name variants) event which also involved a Peter occurring in that same period, and in Honington or 10 miles around it.³¹ FindMypast searches for a Cleydon (or variants) event between 1540 and 1580, and in any location, with the keyword ²³ A Family Search search for Adrian Cleydon's baptism record returned a record of a Thomas baptised to an Isabell Cleydon in October 1620 in Farnborough, 11½ miles east-north-east of Honington, see <https://www.familysearch.org/ark:/61903/1:1:XXVK-YQR?lang=en>. Interestingly, Farnborough is 1½ miles west of a town called Claydon. It seems unlikely that this Isabell Cleydon was also baptising children in Honington up to 28 years earlier and, in any event, Peter had died by 1617, see above, so this Isabell was surely not his wife.

Isabelle added to the search (followed by separate searches adding the keywords Isobel, Isobell, Isabel, Isabell and Isabelle) were also fruitless.³²

Accordingly, Peter's marriage record could not be located. Also, whilst there is a basis for saying his wife was named Isabelle in one of its various spellings, that could not be confirmed with sufficient certitude. No details of Peter's marriage were therefore determined.

Peter's birth

Peter's Family Search person record at <https://www.familysearch.org/en/tree/person/details/GMDG-S31> lists his birth date as "about 1572", but that was added by a Family Search contributor without any sources being linked. However, a "Reason This Information Is Correct" was provided as follows: "This birth year would make his parents roughly 20 years old when he was born, and would also put him at about 20 years old when he had his first kid." In other words, the birth year in the person record of "about 1572" is conjecture.³³

Having baptised children in Honington between 1592 and 1599, one may expect that Peter was most likely born somewhere around 1565 to 1572. But, as is apparent from the myriad searches conducted for Peter Cleydon (and the surname's phonetic equivalents), and which cover that period, as referred to above, no potential Peter Cleydon baptism record was located in either Family Search or FindMyPast, whether in Honington or elsewhere.

A specific FindMyPast search for a Peter (or variants) Cleydon (or variants) born in Honington or within 10 miles of it between 1554 and 1574³⁴ returned only his 1617 burial. The like Family Search search was also fruitless.³⁵

Given Cleydon is an unusual surname, it seems a reasonable surmise that the Robert and Raphe Cleydon baptising children in Honington at about the same time as Peter, and also the John Cleydon who got married there in that period, were Peter's brothers. However, FindMyPast searches for a Robert (or variants) Cleydon (or variants) born in Honington or within 10 miles between 1554 and 1574 returned no record of his birth, as did the like search for Raphe.³⁶

But a search for John Cleydon's birth did return the relevant record. He was baptised in Honington to Raphe Cleydon on 26th November 1575, see <https://www.findmypast.com.au/transcript?id=GBPRS%2FWARWICKSHIRE%2FBAP%2F001587307&tab=this>.

The original record, which is at

<https://search.findmypast.com.au/record?id=S2%2FGBPRS%2FWARWICKSHIRE%2FPR-NONEXC%2FHONINGTON%2FDR0210-01-00004>,³⁷ provides no additional information.

³² See, for "Isabelle", https://www.findmypast.com.au/search/results?lastname=cleidon&lastname_variants=true&eventyear=1560&eventyear_offset=20&keywords=isabelle&sid=999. Changing the keyword to Isobel or Isobell also returned "No results found". Isabel, Isabell and Isabelle returned records, but none of interest. Notably, the searches returned surname variants of Clayton, Claton, Claiton, Cleyton, Cleaydon and Cleiton.

³³ As is the birth years of "about 1551" and "about 1552" given by a Family Search contributor for his father and mother, both named simply as "Cleydon", see <https://www.familysearch.org/en/tree/person/details/GDY4-8PQ> and

<https://www.familysearch.org/en/tree/person/details/GDYW-5RR>. On the same basis as appears to have been adopted by the contributor, one could surmise birth years "about 20 years" apart going back a 100 generations, but to what point?

³⁷ Notably, the linked image of John's baptism is different from the image previously inspected, which was at

<https://search.findmypast.com.au/record/browse?id=S2/GBPRS/WARWICKSHIRE/PR-NONEXC/HONINGTON/DR0210-01-00014>. The existence of two entries for the same event is explained by the curate re-writing the registers, see the brief relating to William Miles, Father of Timothy, as to that matter.

If the surmise that Peter and John were brothers is correct, Peter's father was the same Raphe Cleydon. That surmise is based on Cleydon being an uncommon name, and the fact that Peter, John, Robert and Raphe were all marrying or baptising children in and about the 1590s.

As noted above, a Raphe was baptised in Honington to Raphe Cleydon on 13th June 1595, and one of the searches also returned a Percy baptised in Honington on 6th June 1643 to a "Ralph Cleydon Jur", see <https://www.findmypast.com.au/transcript?id=GBPRS%2FWARWICKSHIRE%2FBAP%2F001588076&tab=this>. The original record actually spells the father's name as "Raph",³⁸ not Ralph.

Percy's father, being Raph Cleydon Junior, was thus the son of a Raph. It is possible that that Raph Cleydon Junior was the Raphe baptised in 1595, except that may be a stretch, as he would have been about to turn 48 when Percy was baptised.

An alternative is that there were three consecutive generations with a male named Raph. That is, Percy's father Raph Cleydon Junior was not the Raphe baptised in 1595, rather he was his son, and was baptised about 1620. That scenario seems quite plausible given the common Honington location, as well as the paucity of Cleydons in Honington at the time as shown by the myriad searches referred to above, and notwithstanding that, despite those myriad searches, a record could not be located for the baptism about 1620 of such a third Raph.

The only other alternative is that the Raph who baptised Percy in 1643, and his father Raph, were not the direct descendants of the Raphe baptised in 1595, and his father Raphe.

But, whichever the case, a strong patronymic tradition is indicated in the Cleydon clan in Honington at the time.

That fact tends to corroborate that the Raphe who baptised a son Raphe in 1595 was also the son of a Raphe, and hence very likely John's brother. And, given that Robert also baptised a Raphe in Honington on 9th February 1597, that suggests he may be another brother. The question is, can one then conclude that Peter was a fourth brother, and hence that his father was Raphe Cleydon? It is a reasonable proposition. And, as indicated above, the paucity of Cleydons in Honington at the time serves to support such propositions as these three.³⁹

What then tends to settle the matter is that there is further corroborating evidence in that Peter's daughter Adrian, and her husband William Miles, also baptised a Raph in 1629, see the brief relating to William Miles.⁴⁰ Raph was not an uncommon name in Warwickshire in the 16th and 17th centuries, but it was less common than many other male names.⁴¹

It is thus concluded with sufficient certitude that Peter's father was Raphe Cleydon. Unfortunately, that detail is of little moment, as we still do not have a confirmed baptism date for Peter, or a confirmed place for that baptism, although it is likely Honington.

Also, searches could not locate any further information about Peter's father Raphe's baptism, marriage or death. His baptism would probably have been between about 1540 to 1550.⁴²

Accordingly, Peter's date and place of baptism are unknown. His father is concluded to be Raphe Cleydon, but no details could be located about him.
